A question asked in a lot of Sunday School classes is, 'who had the biggest influence in your growth as a Christian' I would have to say it was Peggy. She was my first Southern Baptist Sunday School teacher. There is no doubt she loved her Lord, her church family, and her own family. She was MY pianist for so many years. Loved her, her family. Norris, you are one lucky guy. You found your special lady. The Lord's peace to you and your family.

Peggy Sue has always been apart of my families life. How we loved her. Always a joy listening her sing and play the piano. Watching her teach and being a servant to the Lord was a wonderful sight to behold. Making dozens of sugar cookies for the Sunday school classes or vacation bible school. Grocery shopping for the elderly. Teaching so many children to sing and love music. The best was her playing her piano and Norris with his guitar, singing praises to God. What wonderful memories all her fans carry with us. Her smile. The joy that was in her voice when she spoke of Norris, her boys, Jennifer, Sarah and Matthew and their families was a blessing to see. Can only imagine the reunion there was in heaven.

Audie Cline

As a young boy, I had a 'crush' on Peggy (who was the age of my oldest sister). She would sometimes take me with her into Jamestown for a soda, and on many Sundays she allowed me to sit on the piano bench when she played for Sunday services. You can imagine my dismay when she told me that she was going to marry Norris Dean. I remember telling her that I thought I was her boyfriend. Peggy broke out in that big grin of hers and said, 'You will always be special to me.' No one, I mean no one, could sing 'The Old Rugged Cross' like Peggy, and her ability to make the piano 'walk across the floor' could not be matched. I loved singing solos and duets with Peggy playing the piano. When I grow up, I want to be just like Peggy Herndon, a true servant of God. Norris, I want you to know, that I have forgiven you for taking my 'girl.'
